CURRENT NEWS IN THE ENERGY SECTOR

In a recent announcement by EPRA, it has been revealed that electricity prices are poised to surge by 16.5% due to the depreciation of the Kenyan shilling against the dollar and other currencies, signaling potential increase in cost of living.

Therefore, through our Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) and Lease Solar Financing options, we present viable opportunities for residential estates, gated communities, learning institutions and businesses to not only counterbalance rising electricity costs but also contribute to a cleaner, sustainable energy future with us.

SOLAR FOR EDUCATION

Majority of our educational institutions conduct most of their activities during the day presenting a significant opportunity to leverage solar solutions for daily operations and achieve substantial savings.

Through our experience with large-scale solar water heating initiatives at Daystar University and Kenya Methodist University, we are confident that educational institutions can efficiently derive considerable advantages from the integration of solar solutions within their premises.

OUR STRATEGY

"Education is among the most important building block for the healthy development of any society."

In partnership with Mukuru Promotion Centre, Sentec is part of a pivotal program facilitating the education of over 6500 pupils, providing them with vital access to education. We firmly believe that access to sustainable education is a fundamental right.

This month Under our power purchase and lease finance agreements, hospitality and indeed all other businesses have the potential to generate their electricity at zero upfront investments and 40% cheaper unit rates, affording them sustainability in these tough economic times!
